What is Soul Retrieval? According to shamanic teachings, every one of us had to split-off parts of our psyche, mainly during our childhood. This diminished our physical, mental, emotional and spiritual potential, fragmented us and severed the connection to our deepest and authentic selves. As these split-off parts are no longer available to us, our vital authentic energetic powers and potentials are curtailed.

In ancient psycho-spiritual teaching the retrieval and re-integration of such split-off parts of our selves is seen as the most vital step towards becoming whole. The practice of Soul Retrieval therefore aims to retrieve and re-integrate those parts as without them people are unable to heal and lead creative authentic lives, which are meaningful and purposeful, and reach their potential.

How it works: Some split-off parts can be retrieved by ourselves, but certain parts are difficult to access by the individual as they have fled to the 'other worlds', out of reach by the affected person. Shamanic practitioners therefore journey into the unconscious and parallel realms, using deep trance states, to retrieve lost soul parts, utilising their vast knowledge about those realms and the teachers and helpers available.

During this course you will learn how retrieve parts for yourself and others. You can integrate this within your therapeutic or healing practice, your shamanic work or just utilise it for yourself.
